

SCHOOLS GREEN SKILLS SUMMIT

Event Details

Green Skills Summit for High School students across Babergh and Mid Suffolk in Autumn 2024, hosted by Ipswich High School.

The Conference will be run by Interclimate, a registered charity with a mission to inspire young people in the UK to become leaders and advocates for action on climate change. As a result of this conference, we hope to focus on engaging with young people from a wide variety of socio-economic backgrounds and existing attitudes towards climate change, connecting the global reality of climate change and its effects, with opportunities for local action and sustainable career choices.

The aims of ICN's conferences – developed and delivered by the same core team for over ten years - are to bring the critical 'real world' climate debate to life, enhance critical thinking for young participants and inspire student-led action. The intention here is to bring together around 60-70 students from interested schools to join a model COP29. Teams will represent around 16 nations as at COP29 in Azerbaijan (planned for November 2024) particularly in 'Global Negotiations' before the conference turns to a focus on local climate action and schools' engagement towards Net Zero.

Day Itinerary

Morning (Part 1) - Global Negotiations - Teams of students work in advance to create their country statement, then present and debate progress towards pledged carbon reduction targets made in Paris before trying to agree more ambitious climate action by 2030.

Lunch - Green Skills Career Fair

Afternoon (Part 2) - Climate Action - The focus in the second part of the conference typically then turns to our own national and local climate action and how students and schools can make a difference in support of Net Zero. Options for this session include:

- Students to showcase examples of their own climate actions
- Marketplace of active organisations invited to show their work and answer questions
- Q&A with local councillor, senior staff, sustainability committee (as appropriate).
